

10 Most Anticipated Luxury Resorts Opening Around the World in 2017

The year is looking luxe already.

December 28, 2016

By Tamara Palmer

If your idea of a dream hotel stay includes bragging rights that you were the first out of anyone you know to pay a visit — well, you'll want to read about these anticipated openings for 2017. Reservations are already available for some of these posh coming attractions, while bookings for others are soon to open.

Alohilani Resort at Waikiki Beach

Pacific Beach Hotel is undergoing a $115 million transformation slated to be complete in the fall. The property will then become known as Alohilani Resort, home to two new restaurants from Iron Chef Masaharu Morimoto, a massive oceanarium in the lobby and new suites overlooking Diamond Head. (Completed: Fall)